

“What Am I Doing”

As far as what I'm doing, both my husband and I are essential, so our lives haven't changed too much. We are grateful for that. He works for a food distribution as a transportation specialist/material handler. I work in cash processing for a distributor who supplies other essential businesses with products, including items such as nitrile gloves and masks, and other necessary supplies during this time.

I love listening to K-Love, but I listen to Life 102.5 out of Madison most of the time (I work in Janesville and living in Delavan we get Madison stations out here, too.) The songs are bringing me much comfort during this time.

Thank you so much, Shari, for sharing the photo of my mom. Also, I plan to stop up at church Sunday shortly after 9am to get palms. Mom said to me on the phone yesterday afternoon she was sad not to get a palm this year.

The administrator at Birchrock, she said it was okay for me to drop one off outside for mom. I'll also print your email and the attachment for her. Candy said that is going to make her whole week.

Take care and stay safe. I hope this pandemic is over soon!
